

MyZuzah Moments - February 9, 2024

India, Moldova, Belarus, and Italy— all countries waiting for shipments of mezuzot to share with their local communities! We are still working our way through a waiting list of 1,200 mezuzah requests, and we use a special scorecard system that helps guide which partners are first to receive their mezuzahs. The top-ranked partners also help us by providing best practices that we share with our entire partner community! As the saying goes, a raised mezuzah lifts all doorposts!

Partner Updates:

Based in Newton, MA, the Mayyim Hayyim Community Mikveh and its Rising Tide network of mikvahs around the country take special care for each person who immerses in their waters. There are many reasons for someone to visit a mikvah, and the most joyous may be the immersion that concludes a person's conversion to Judaism. Along with one of MyZuzah's kosher, fair-trade mezuzot, their team prepares a welcome packet for new Jews that includes honey sticks, greeting cards, and other items to celebrate the addition to the Jewish community.

Chabad at UCLA (also known as JewCLA) is helping their students stand proud and stand up against all of the anti-Israel and antisemitic actions on campus, by continuing to put up mezuzahs.

Individual Stories:

*I heard about MyZuzah from the JLIC Rabbi at John Hopkins University (Rabbi Moshe). Given that the mezuzah has been a way for Jews to mark their homes for millennia, it is exciting to have connected to that tradition and now have a reminder of my Judaism each time I enter and leave my apartment. Ezra Greenberg, Baltimore, MD

*I try to do my part in the Jewish community by attending my downtown synagogue, but over the last few months I've felt like there was something more I should be doing to support our people and represent publicly. Putting up a mezuzah strengthens my connection with all Jews - Am Yisrael Chai! Jared Miniman, Washington, DC
