MyZuzah Moments - July 22, 2022

Last month, our mezuzot were sent to 22 states in the U.S., traversing 32,161 miles! More than 400 mezuzot have been ordered by partners that are planning for early fall programs, and we anticipate many more requests as people transition back from vacation to action.

MyZuzah's plan to follow our mezuzah recipients with continuing Jewish educational content took another step forward this week, as the team at MyJewishLearning discussed their deep expertise in curated learning pathways and content with us. We look forward to sharing more soon!

This week, we have an abundance of partner content to share, so we'll save more individual messages for next week.

Partner Updates:

Rabbi Mendel Weinfeld in San Jose, CA, met with a woman who seemed to be extremely anti-religion, despite being Jewish. He thought she was going to scream at her for even thinking to put up a mezuzah, but instead she accepted the offer and seemed to be in seventh heaven as they put up the mezuzah on her front door!

In Maryland, Rabbi Velvel Belinsky of the Ariel Center shared pictures of two excited mezuzah recipients:

Rabbi Adiel Boaron provided a mezuzah to Netanel Ben Haim, in Beit Shean, Israel (coincidentally, where Alex used to live!), and another to Adir and Adi Chiyun, in Ma'alot Tarshicha.

Daniel Blumen and Max Gordon, at UCLA, received mezuzot from Rabbi Dovid Gurevich in Los Angeles:

The team at Chabad in Buffalo sent a mezuzah to a Larry Novofastovsky, member of their community who relocated to Brooklyn, NY, to help make his new apartment feel like a Jewish home (left).

Lauren Lennet, in Buffalo, NY, also received a new mezuzah (right).

In Olney, MD, members of Ohev Shalom put their mezuzahs up this week with the help of Rabbi Ariel Ben-Horin:

Individual recipient messages & photos:

Sandra Overton, in Jacksonville, FL, finally put her mezuzah up after months of trying to find time to join us. Her father passed away earlier this year, and she spends much of her time caring for her elderly mother. She was looking forward to honoring her father by putting his mezuzah on her door, so it was a surprise when she discovered that the case he had at his home for decades was actually empty! Our team sent her a new klaf and walked her through the whole process of securing it onto her house.

Jen Aron, Chicago, IL
