

MyZuzah Moments - March 14, 2025

In February, we sent hundreds of mezuzahs journeying across 83,533 miles in North America – not to mention an additional 500 mezuzahs this month to Buenos Aires, Argentina, and 100 mezuzahs to Santiago, Chile!

Following our mention in Hadassah Magazine, a friend of mezuzah recipient Joy Benenson, of Denver, CO, recognized her and shared the article, and then Joy gleefully made a donation back to our program! She wrote:

Thanks for my picture in the Hadassah magazine. I had no idea, but when my friend sent me a screenshot, it made me smile. Thanks for everything that you do.)

And in Jewish Action magazine, the intricacies of our work to improve the quality of kosher mezuzahs globally, in partnership with the STAM Project (also known as STAMP), was detailed in a lengthy article. Alex Shapero, our Program Director, got in a few great quotes – dive in to read them!

Partner Updates:

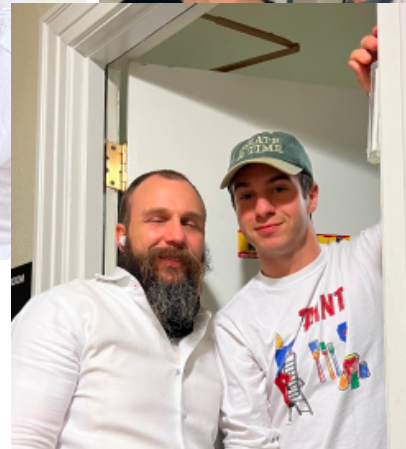

Even though we have sent more than 1500 mezuzot to Buenos Aires in the last few months for a new-ish partner, our friends at ISEJ (focusing on young professionals around the city) continue to blanket the doorposts of their community. Here we have a number of large families who came together to celebrate their homes:

Chabad of Encino joined us to sponsor 75 mezuzot for the Israeli Air Force base Machane Ramon, in the Negev.

The Colorado Springs Jewish Center has also been connecting the Jewish families in their region with our mezuzot:

Individual Recipient Stories:

I have only recently found out I am Jewish, although I felt it instinctively and went looking for the evidence. It's been a difficult and often lonely journey on a small island at the bottom of the world, after meeting my dear friend Jozsef Schwarzenberg my journey really began to take off and he is the person who pointed me here. He also made an online group of like minded and eager to help Jewish Americans to help me. This has been a massive part of my journey home and I'm incredibly grateful.

Truly thank you.

The communal dedication was a lovely space to hold, even virtually. I don't live in a very Jewish area, so having someone there with me to say the prayers and help hang my mezuzah was such a blessing. Having one is a reminder that my space is a Jewish space, and one that I can feel safe within. Avi Brown, Dalton, GA
