

MyZuzah Moments - March 17, 2023

This Sunday, we will be hosting another PJ Library mezuzah-decorating workshop in partnership with the Edlavitch DCJCC in Washington, DC, co-sponsored by Honeymoon Israel. Two dozen families have registered!

During February, our mezuzahs traveled 55,517 miles across the U.S. to reach new homes. Not that we are looking to boost our mileage, but through recent conversations with Kulanu, MyZuzah has been approached by additional Jewish communities throughout Africa to send mezuzahs in support of their communities. Our team is learning more about the diverse and fascinating roots and evolution of the many Jewish communities in Nigeria, Ghana, Uganda, and other countries, and we need help raising additional funds to provide enough mezuzahs! If you are interested in contributing or learning more, please don't be shy!

Partner Updates:

Rabbi Arye Merckhasin of the community in Hamburg, Germany, has put up over 40 mezuzahs in the last year, including for a number of families who are refugees from the conflict in Ukraine, like the brother and sister below:

The Hamburg community is also home to a large number of Russian-speaking Jews who came to Germany following the end of the Soviet Union, in the early 1990s.

At the Chai Jewish Center of Colonie, in Loudonville, NY, Rabbi Mordechai Rubin passed along two pictures of mezuzahs placed by local retirees:

Eric Levine of Lafayette, CO seems quite happy with his new mezuzah:
