MyZuzah Moments - September 8, 2022

Our team mailed out nearly three hundred mezuzahs this week, to individuals and partners across the U.S. who had been clamoring for mezuzahs since earlier this summer. From coast to coast, we are supplying partners with material for their holiday campaigns, and helping people get settled in their homes as the new year is about to begin!

MyZuzah does not yet maintain an active presence on social media, though we always keep an eye out for relevant posts and prospective partners. A few weeks ago, we saw this Twitter feed from a woman who sponsors mezuzahs for those in need every year before Rosh Hashana, and we are pleased to share that Dr. Hannah Lebovits will be helping MyZuzah supply 60 new mezuzahs for people. Her academic work may also help to inform some of our future projects, as we share the interest of helping people find stability and security in their homes.

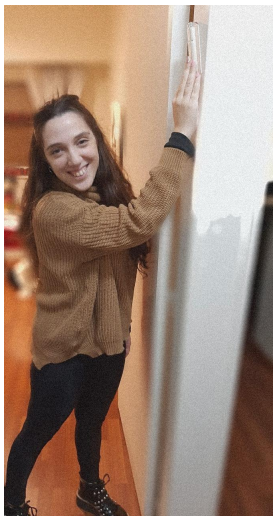

Partner Updates:

Rabbi Chaim Wilansky of Congregation Beth Abraham, in my hometown of Bangor, Maine, found two local Jews in need of mezuzahs:

The ISEJ team in Buenos Aires updated us with dozens of photos, and requested another 100 to continue their work in and around the Argentine capital:

Aish of Greater Washington shared this group of photos, demonstrating how mezuzahs are right for every stage of life!

Individual recipient photos:

I heard about you on Twitter and was so happy to know you existed. I'm low income and trying to find an affordable authentic mezuzah has been a challenge. The case is lovely and looks like it will hold up for a long time. My home feels more complete now. Anastasia Coffman, Chambersburg, PA

Ben Englander, Amherst, MA

Talia David, College Park, MD

My local rabbi in Los Angeles told me it was a good way to do it and he was right! Philip Kanarsh, Los Angeles, CA

On a personal note, I recently connected with someone who I led on Birthright over a decade ago, who is now working as a realtor in the DC area. We're working on encouraging realtors to offer mezuzahs as closing gifts!

I was contacted by my former Birthright Leader, Alex Shapero, and he explained the background and encouraged me to hang a mezuzah. Eli Tucker, Arlington, VA
